Art Unit: 1714

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 2-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Improper Markush language is recited and "or its (their) mixtures" at the end of claims should be "and its (their) mixtures".

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Torre (US 5,684,120) and EP 0 885 930.

Torre teaches the instant polyamide A having a Tg of 192°C in example 1. Torre also teaches its alloy with other amorphous transparent polyamide having a Tg of less than 90°C in an amount up to 30 weight % at col. 2, lines 52-56.

The instant invention further recites particular reactants for polyamide B having a Tg of less than 90°C over Torre. However, the use of such polyamide B having a Tg of less than 90°C with a polyamide having a higher Tg is well known as taught by EP (col. 4, lines 36-40 wherein a Tg (Glaspunkt) of 43.5°C is seen).

Art Unit: 1714

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to use an amorphous transparent polyamide having a Tg of less than 90°C (or 43.5°C) taught by EP in Torre in order to make a copolyamide alloy since Torre teaches alloys with other amorphous transparent polyamide having a Tg of less than 90°C in an amount up to 30 weight % and since such copolyamide is well known as taught by EP.

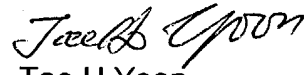

Claims 3 and 5 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action, and if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
